Flora and Fauna

This was a difficult project simply because it was winter, so there wasn't much by way of plants growing and animals running around. However, I managed to find a poinsettia in the office where I am interning at. For the cat, I thank my neighbors who happened to let their cat out at just the right moment. She kept following me around and would hold still, just staring at me, so I snapped the picture.

I did some edits on each photo, mainly with the levels, saturation, sharpening and adding some gradients. I took out the saturation from the cat and masked out the eyes and nose, so the color would remain in those parts. Overall, these are the results I ended up with.

Adjustments

For the Cutco image, I simply added an adjustment layer to decrease the saturation completely out of the picture. Then I added a mask to that layer and masked out just the portion on the blade of the knife, so the color would show up there and no where else. This is the effect I got.
